POST - ELECTION

We have read a record number of post-election editorials and news comments. There has been a heavy crop!

All too many of them have been "explanations" of how the results of the election were misjudged. An editorial barrage of "crow-eating" has now been on for a week.

This newspaper would like to toss in the thought that what we need most of all right now is to close ranks as Americans and present a united front to the problems confronting us.

It matters not now for whom you voted; let's be on one mind to keep our nation strong, prosperous and dynamic.

MASTER RACE CONCEIT

(Louisville Times)

From an extensive public opinion poll among the Germans in the American occupation zone, Ernest Leiser concludes that they "are today more convinced than ever that there is a master race and tha they are it."

That feeling of superiority is hard to eradicate. Greeks and Romans had it. Upper class Mongolians have difficulty in concealing it even when discretion is the better part of valor.

It is an aberration of success which demands a scapegoat to account for failure, though prejudices and animosities ill-become a master race. Even more irrational is the master race conceit among related divisions of the same race; but the result of a similar poll with the same questions in England, France and America would provide an interesting comparison.

The axiom, "pride goeth before a fall," means that pride precedes and foreboders a fall.

To Dunk or Not To Dunk?

Dunking doughnuts is Sober Hopkins' favorite morning pastime . . . and for a long time Ma Hopkins has been trying to break him of the habit. Feels it sets a bad example for the children.

So one morning she puts a heavy frosting of chocolate on the doughnuts . . . figuring that will stop him. Sober thinks it over for a while and then: Dunk! Taste? Smile!! And Sober compliments the missus on the lovely mocha flavor!

I guess there'll always be two schools of thought: to dunk or not to dunk. But from where I sit, it's a matter of personal choice and taste—like some folks prefer beer to cider, ale to beer. And the less we criticize those differences of taste, the better.

In fact, Ma Hopkins got so curious about the flavor of chocolate-covered doughnuts dunked in coffee, that she tried it herself. Now—you've guessed it—she's a daily dunker, too!

Can Black-Draught Help An Upset Stomach?

Yes. Black-Draught may help an upset stomach if the only reason you have an upset stomach is because of constipation. Black-Draught, the friendly laxative, is usually prompt and thorough when taken as directed. It costs only a penny or less a dose. That's why it has been a best-seller with four generations. If you are troubled with such symptoms as loss of appetite, headache, upset stomach, flatulence, physical fatigue, sleeplessness, mental haziness, bad breath—and if these symptoms are due only to constipation — then see what Black-Draught may do for you.
